Extensions and Wigs

Our Story

HairWelle is a leading manufacturer and wholesaler/distributor of Human hair extensions in Asia. The company exports a wide range of Human hair products which are used and recommended by top stylists. We provide high quality hair to top braiding hair brands across the world.

Our extensive industry experience helps us to provide high-quality hair at a reasonable cost. With 750+ clients worldwide, HairWelle continues to pursue innovation, quality, and customer happiness.

What we offer

We use only selected, high-quality hair, which has never been chemically treated – virgin hair with intact cuticles for our hair extensions, which preserves all the characteristics of perfect healthy natural hair. The hair we use comes from India (specially from south part of India where the hair is long, thick and black), and undergoes a careful sorting process, before being processed and transformed into splendid hair extensions.

The production of professional hair extensions is an extremely complex process. The sourcing of the raw materials and all the production phases must meet precise quality standards. Failure to observe these rules may result in various flaws, which depend mainly on the poor quality of the hair and a manufacturing process which does not respect the hair structure. Only a careful selection and scrupulous manufacturing process will result in extensions which maintain their softness, shine, silkiness and body over time.

Clip-Ins:

Perhaps there is a very good explanation why clip-in hair extensions have been used since Ancient Egypt: complete hairdo makeover with no trouble and no commitment! They are the ultimate accessory since they let you switch up your appearance for a special occasion or a night out without having to commit to a specific haircut. The best part is that using Remy human hair will prevent you from damaging your natural hair with chemicals or heat.

Hair clips can definitely be more gentle on your hair than its other hair accessory counterparts. They help prevent the heavy tugging and breakage that comes with putting hair up in a ponytail or pulled back with a headband.

Customer satisfaction is the main priority for us, We see our customers as invited guests to a party, and we are the host. It's our job every day to make important aspect of the costumers experience a little bit better.

I've been buying from this wholesaler for about 7 or 8 years, and even though I have other vendors in India, I find HairWelle to be far more reliable. The hair is always of high quality, and the customer service is always prompt.

Kevin Danny

I only needed a small order ($125), yet I received the same treatment as if I had spent a million dollars. The representative was a salesman named Pavan, and he was in every way respectful, informed, and professional. I've worked with HairWelle for years, and I've never had an issue. Orders are swiftly placed and promptly delivered.
