COCO PEAT

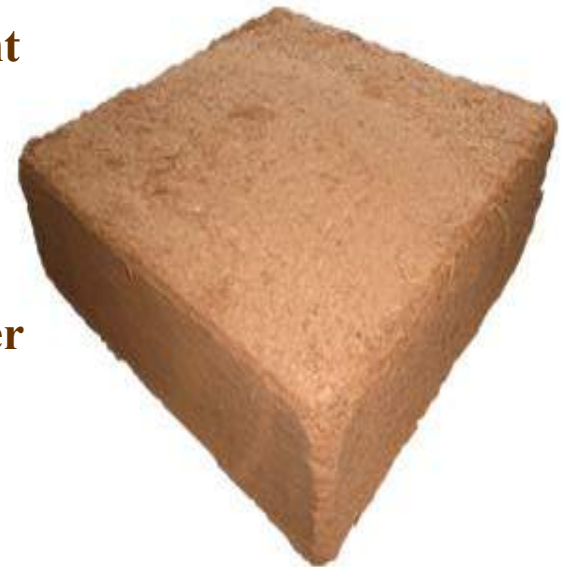

Introduction

Coco peat is a natural, and renewable resource produced from coconut husks. Potting soil manufacturers add value to potting mixtures by adding a percentage of good quality coco peat.

Plants grown with coco peat require less frequent watering due to their higher water-holding capacity. Finer roots can be seen in a shorter time. The roots receive greater aeration resulting in healthier plants.

Coco peat ensures a sufficient amount of water for the plant without compromising on the drainage capacity.

Rajahrani Impex Private Limited, Coco Peat is pressed in weights of 650g bricks and 5kg blocks with a compression ratio of 8:1. We produce blocks of 10kg on request; however larger products mean bigger transports.
